

FDA Deeming Regulations - Crazy Vapors Call to Action

The FDA along with the CDC is conducting an investigation and soliciting comments from the public that is going to decide the future of vaping. The comment period will end on August 8th, 2014, after which the FDA will consider comments, and then reach a decision about regulations.

If the FDA decides to regulate vaporizers the same way it does cigarettes and tobacco products, it will be extremely expensive and cost prohibitive for vape shops to be able to remain in business. Imagine within a few weeks after ruling, vape shops all over the country shut down because they are unable to meet the "Deeming Regulations" that the FDA will enforce. It is time to Fight for Your Right To Vape! Let your voice be heard and submit your comment now. Your comment will make a difference.

The Comments must be submitted at: <http://goo.gl/pxq2mk> no later than August 8th, 2014.

Comment Guidelines

The FDA expects to see comments that are well organized, clear, and factual information supporting your view.

When preparing your comments you should remember three FDA concerns:

1. The FDA is a scientific association and are looking for quantitative evidence that vaporizers and electronic cigarettes are a) less harmful than cigarettes b) an alternative so smoking which assists users in stopping the fatal habit of smoking.
2. The FDA is concerned that young people will begin vaping and then move onto nicotine and then onto smoking cigarettes. They are very concerned about products being sold to minors and being marketed to minors.
3. The FDA is concerned with the long term effects of vaping. They are looking for any negative part of the vaping community.

What to post in the comment section? Please note that you can submit any information that you want in the FDA comments and the following are simply guidelines.
